Some of the Meetings. The primary in the sixteenth precinct last evening brought out a large showing of Republicans. Ex-Mayor McMaster presided and Gid B. Thompson and Ross Hill. jr., were secretaries. There was no "slate." an effort to introduce one being voted down. A score and more of names were placed in nomination for delegates, and after a ballot the choice centered upon John R. Allen, Dr. A. J. Morris, R. S. Hill, sr., Harry Roney, Al Womack and Jefferson Cook. Harry Mounts is committeeman of this precinct. In the fifty-ninth precinct there was the only contest of the evening. One of the opposing sides had a ticket prepared and the other side objected, refusing to vote. The delegation from this precinct will be contested in the convention to-night, in the one-hundred-and-twenty-ninth precinct there were no instructions, but it is believed a majority of the delegation is for

Dr. Wagner. The meeting was very large year and they would win.

First Effort to Hold Precinct Primaries Proves a Big Success. Last night was the first attempt of the Republicans to hold precinct primaries, and the result was very flattering to those who have in times past advocated this method. The primaries in all the precincts were well attended, in most of them there being as many persons attending each of the primaries as formerly came out to a ward primary. There was a general interest manifested in the selection of delegates and many warm and hotly contested but friendly encounters between the supporters of different slates. Viewing the prospects from the results of the primaries there will in all probabilities be an enthusiastic convention to-night with fighting chances for any of the candidates.

Out of the 158 precincts all but twelve were reported to the committee headquarters last night, and there was but one precinct in which a contest was reported. The committee rooms in the When Block were crowded till a late hour, and a general confidence of success at the polls prevailed.

Compliments were showered upon Chairman Smith and Secretary Joyce last night for their energetic work. They are proving a magnificent pair of hustlers.

A STRINGENCY IN IDEAS.

A Sharp Criticism of Puck's Feeble Jokes on the Ex-President.

Washington Post. We fear that our esteemed weekly contemporary, Pack, is suffering under the general depression and has become as hard up for ideas as so many banks and operators are for money. The frontisinteresting publication shows Mr. Cleveland in a truly heroic attitude, wearing something across his breast that looks like a princely decoration, while at his feet stands Mr. Benjamin Harrison, a mere pigmy in size, wearing instead of the princely decoration an idiotic smirk and that muchabused grandfather's hat.

It is not presumable that the cartoen was the deliberate choice of Puck's management. The thing is as destitute of wit as it could possibly be. The "grandfather's hat" expedient has long since lost the respect and toleration of intelligent men. It was never an opulent one at any time. The effort to belittle a man of Mr. Harrison's character by picturing him as a dwarf lost in the recesses of a gigantic hat was always hopelessly impudent and silly. It appealed only to stupid and prejudiced people; it amused only the most melancholy variety of fool. No one who knew Mr. Harrison, either by personal contact or through an enlightened study of public events, felt anything but sorrow and contempt for the authors of so poor a wittleism. No one with the remotest approach to a rational understanding of the proprieties condoned the employment of methods so dull, and coarse, and senseless. Whether the individual approved or disapproved of Mr. Harrison's political ideas-and the Post has on many occasions antagonized them vigorously-he could not deny his dignity, his courage, his force, his ardent patriotism, and his resolute devotion to the flag that typified his country. There has loyal citizen, a gallant soldier, a pureminded and sincere Christian and a clean and conscientions public officer. Any effort to disparage him, to make him ridiculous and insignificant, in the manner we have mentioned involves only a reflection upon the intelligence and good feeling of him who makes it. We construe Puck's cartoon, therefore, as an indication of intellectual stringency in the publication office rather than deliberate malice and folly. It is a dull season. Money is scarce, and inspiration and happy thoughts are not to be had at any price. The editor understood, no doubt, that he was offering the public a very poor and shabby thing, but it was the best he could alford.

Decision for the Mergenthaler.

New York, July 21.-In the United States Circuit Court, to-day, Judge Coxe handed down a decision in the case of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company against the Press Publishing Company and others. The suit was brought for an infringement of a patent granted to Otto Mergenthaler for improvements in machines for producing printing bars. The defendants claimed that the machine in use was the Rogers, not the Mergenthaler, but an improvement on the latter. Judge Coxe holds that it is operated on the same principle. Mergenthaler, he says, has made an invention of unusual merit, and is entitled to resp the rewards. An injunction with an accounting is granted. Warner Miller's Scheme,

SITUATION AT ELWOOD.

Not So Bad as Has Been Reported, and the Young City Is Prosperous.

To the Editor of the Indianapoils Journals "Two Thousand Men Idle and Hungry' is the caption of an article from your special correspondent from this city, in the Journal of the 19th inst. Were it not that the article is misleading in the extreme, and does our city very great injustice, I would not think of troubling you to set the matter right.

Ali glass workers except plate-glass men, by an arrangement of their own, take a six weeks' vacation during the heated term each year, so that the McBeth lamp works, the McCloy chimney works, the Nivison bottle works and the Elwood window glass works are all closed at this particular time on account of this, their own arrangement. With full knowledge of its coming a year ago they, of course, are all prepared for this vacation and there is no distress on that account. The American tin-plate works closed a few weeks ago for repairs, and will, no doubt, start up again in the near future. Tin-plate men are as well or better paid as any wage workers in the land, so that their brief shut down gives them no special concern. Thus it will be seen that the only "shut down" here, which was not fully anticipated, was that of the plateglass works. That was unexpected, and has thrown many men out of work, but as plate-glass men, as a rule, are paid large wages, the frugal are well provided for any emergency.

The truth is, a person coming to Elwood, even now, who is not acquainted with its nenomenal growth and prosperity, would be impressed with the fact that we are, at this time, in the midst of great prosperity. The bentwood works, the iron foundry, the planing mills and the large radiator works, recently located here, are all in successful operation; and the large steel forge works recently located is rising from the ground day by day, and will soon be in succeesful operation-the pride of our city. and one of the best establishments in it. Besides this, there is large municipal improvement going on, together with five large brick business blocks and between seventy-five and one hundred residence properties, some of which would do honor to any city in the land, now in process ef construction. The fact is, most cities would rejoice greatly to enjoy such prosperity as we are having, even in these times of financial peril.

It is true we are having some distress among the poor, but what city is not, even in times of greatest prosperity? We are setting about to care for them in a proper manner. If your special correspondent would follow the scriptural injunction, "When thou doest aims, do not sound a trumpet," etc., our city would maintain its high standing among the cities of the State, and he would have nothing to regret. Elwood is caring for her unfortunates. There have been no business failures here, neither will there be. Our banking establishments are the very best, and within a few weeks every factory in Elwood, together with those in process of construction, will be in successful operation. We have fallen on evil times as a Nation, it is true, but that Elwood will outride the storm and continue to lead them all is as sure as that the day follows the night. The writer formerly lived in southern Indiana, and is free to say that he has never seen such prosperity anywhere as is to be seen, even now, in the G. W. ALFORD. city of Elwood. TEMPORARY RELIEF. Elwood Tin-Plate Mill Will Work Off Present Stock and Then Wait,

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ELWOOD, Ind., July 21.—Manager Leeds, of the American tin-plate factory, and the executive committee of the Amalgamated Association reached an agreement this evening. The scale of prices is the same as last year. The committee did not deem it wise to arrange a scale for the automatic machines, which caused the present trouble. The Welsh tinners are stubborn and refuse to accept the result, but the factory will be run until the stock now on hands is worked up. After that the section of the company will depend on the attitude of Congress on the tariff regarding tin plate.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., July 21 .- E. W. Teagardner and Ollie Rhodes, each aged about twenty, residing near Winchester, came to Muncie to-day to see Forepaugh's circus. They took a Big Four freight train for home this evening, and when about two miles east of Muncie, were invited to climb on top by the brakeman. Teagardner lost his hold on top of the car and fell, his clothes caught on a brace at the end of the brake rod and held him, his head dropped to the track. and when the train was stopped nearly his whole head had been beaten off on the ties. His brains and skull were strewn along the track for a mile, but his body was held fast on the iron. He was the son of J. T. Teagardner, a well-known farmer. The remains were brought to Muncie, and will be taken home to-morrow.

About Twenty of the "Sojers" in the Guardhouse the First Night. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 21 .- The Indiana militia went into camp at "Camp Matthews," this morning, 2,300 strong, with Brigadier General McKee, of Indianapolis. in command. Most of the boys had made a night of it on the train coming into caup. and were fatigued to-day. The location is a beautiful one from a picturesque point get range is in a cornfield, near the drill grounds for the IDfantry. The artillery drill grounds are on the hilltop. General McKee has appointed Lieutenant Gerrard, of the In-dianapolis Light Artillery, provost marshal. He found himself confronted with the necessity of taking decisive steps regarding drinking, and strict regulations were established. Several improvised sa-loons were started just outside the grounds, and the guards were given instructions to keep the soldiers away from them, but a score or more blue coats were sent to the guard house for violating orders. This is the first year the militia will be in camp on Sunday, and a great crowd of visitors is expected. Arrangements are being made to bring two or three thousand excursionists from Indianapolis. A public reception will be tendered to Governor Matthews on Monday evening, and he will review the troops on Tuesday.

ROCKPORT, Ind., July 21.—The little city of Fair Fight, this county, is all astir over the partial elopement of Mrs. Sarah T. Mc-Millin, wite of James C. McMillin, with Berry Hullett, a young man of that city. Mrs. McMillin is twenty-three years of age, has been married six years and has three children. She was raised by a highly respected family of Bowling Green, Ky., where she was married and lived up to two years ago, when she and her husband removed to this county. Yesterday afternoon Hullett and Mrs. McMillin came to this city, with the supposed intention of crossing the river at this point into Kentucky, but after arriving they somewhat modified the programme by going to an attorney and commencing a proceeding for a divorce, a complaint being written up and filed with the clerk of court. While this was going on McMillin was in pursuit, had ascertained their course and followed them to this city this morning, where he learned that his wife had remained over night at the Cottage Hotel. McMillin at once employed an attorney to make a defense to the divorce proceedings. Hullett and Mrs. McMillin left this city this evening, but no one knows where they went. Mr. McMillin returned to his home. The divorce proceedings will be warmly contested.

Searching for a Missing Boy.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NORTH VERNON, Ind., July 21.-Great excitement was caused here this morning by the intelligence that Denny Conley, a blueeyed, light-haired and light-complected boy, seven years old, had mysteriously disappeared and could not be found. The last seen of him was yesterday, at 6 P. M., since which time no one knows of his whereabouts. Searching parties looked for him all night, and to-day the streets, woods and fields are being scoured without avail. Telegrams have been sent to all towns and cities within a radious of one hundred miles, and a twenty-tive-dollar reward offered for his recovery. When last seen he was barefooted and wore a striped cap and calico waist.

Successful Normal School. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WINCHESTER, Ind., July 21.-Profs. H. W. Bowers and O. R. Baker to-day closed a very successful summer normal in this city in which the enrollment reached about seventy-five pupils. The work done has been highly satisfactory. Professor Bowers has been retained as superintendent of the city schools and Professor Baker as principal of the high school. A vigorous protest is being made by the patrons of the schools because the trustees have failed to employ a superintendent of vocal music. For a number of years Professor S. Williams, formerly of Richmond. has been the efficient superintendent of this department.

Hanged Himself with a Bark Rope.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MARION, Ind., July 21.—Hanging by a bark rope from a lamp shelf, in Sugar Grove schoolhouse, near Fairmount, twelve miles south of here, was found, this morning, the body of Elihu Nicholson. It is supposed that he had been hanging there all night. He left the home of a son in the evening, and failed to return. He was eighty-six years old, and had been in poor health for some time. He had evidently fastened the rope about his neck and to the shelf, and jumped from a chair, as the feet were found dangling on the platform.

CANNELTON, Ind., July 21.-Col. W. W. Taylor, builder and owner of the Cannelton water works, has tested his plant, and it has proved satisfactory. The reservoir is 295 feet high, having a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons, the pumps having a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons daily. The town has fifty double-nozzle fire bydrants, and is considered one of the best fire-protected towns in Indiana.

Presbyterian Missionaries Will Be Hastened Out of the Country-Two Indians Women on Their Way to Bangkok.

BANGKOK, July 21 .- M. Pavie, French minister resident, handed France's ultimatum to Prince Devawongse, Siamese Minister of Foreign Affairs, on Friday. At the same time he informed the Siamese government that, in case France's demand should be refused, he would at once leave Bangkok to board the gunboat Forfait. The blockade of the Siamese coast. he added, would be declared at once. The opinion is general here that Siam will offer to pay full the indemnity demanded by France. It is doubtful, however, that the French claims to territory will be allowed. Much depends on the response of Great Britain to the efforts Siam is making to gain her moral or material support.

More Truth than Poetry. Kansas City Jonrnal. The silver issue is a scare. Not only a scare, as the Journal has told the public from the beginning, but a conspiracy. There never had been a time since the government was founded when the country was more prosperous than when the people put Grover Cleveland in power. He came in with a threat against the very basis of that prosperity, and with a pledge to destroy the currency by the repeal of the State bank tax. He began his schemes by an open war on silver b-fore he was inaugurated, and now that he sees the fruit of his howl over tariff reform he seeks to shift the responsibility on to the silver dollar. It would be millions in the pockets of the men who make the country today were Mr. Cleveland as solid par as the silver dollar. The country can now see the difference between confidence in a government and distrust. America never trusted the party now in power but to its
